

AND RACE

CYBERSPACE

Cyberspace is a notional space where people express their emotion and share their thought, through their soul as a way to communicate with each other than seeing or touching bodies. For example, when people sending an email or texting each other, what kind of space do they use? how exactly does it go? In all of the example neither time nor space act as a barrier.

Race means the fact or any condition that make people belong to a racial division or make people who have the similarity of culture, history, language, ethnic, and others. The fact or any condition of belong to a same group no matter how do they look etc; skin color, hair color, or eye color. A group of people who have the common feature or features.

cyberspace and race

Cyberspace and Race, as we all know different people have different opinions about everything, like those ideas or beliefs. Which make people think differently about those varieties of race in the world. "Racism" has been around for about eighteen years, as the world and society keep developing. People find a way to put their thoughts and opinions out there to be discovered. The best way of doing this is through the cyberspace where people nowadays are attached to it. Which leads to the problem on social media, as we would say "Racism through Cyberspace".
